

I'll Be Home For Christmas

Harry Lillis "Bing" Crosby Jr. had more hit singles than any other recording artist in history, starred in movies — winning an Oscar for best actor in 1944 — and hosted radio programs which reached millions of listeners each week. During WWII he toured the front lines and was described as "the person who did the most for the morale of overseas servicemen" by Yank Magazine. He was also a successful entrepreneur, helping to found the recording company Ampex, building the Del Mar race track, developing real estate, buying TV stations, and co-owning a major league baseball team. Bing's biggest hit song was "White Christmas," which stayed at number one on the radio charts for 11 weeks — becoming the most successful single of all time. He was the first performer to release a Christmas album, and for many years hosted an annual TV Christmas special with his second wife and their children. Will and Joe will share many of Bing's biggest hits — including "Pennies From Heaven," "Swinging On A Star," "Accentuate The Positive," "In The Cool, Cool, Cool Of The Evening," "Count Your Blessings," and "Brother, Can You Spare A Dime?" as well as holiday favorites "Happy Holiday," "The Secret of Christmas," "A Marshmallow World," "Silver Bells," "Mele Kalikimaka," and "I'll Be Home For Christmas."

He has released four CDs — "Sketchbook 1" and "Blame Those Gershwins" with pianist Steve Sweeting, "Reel One" with the vocal ensemble At The Movies, and "If I Loved You," with singer Bobbi Carrey and pianist Doug Hammer.
